The Candidate We're Seeking:

The candidate we're seeking has a love for Jesus and His mission, a corresponding spiritually entrepreneurial spirit and experience. The candidate is culturally aware, but (more importantly) deeply grounded in the Christian Tradition and the Word of God. They are completely aligned with Christ Church's mission, and liturgical and cultural ethos. The candidate is confident yet humble, a good communicator, emotionally-connective with high EQ allowing them to work well and collaborate as part of a team.

Essential criteria:

- A completed degree in theology and ministry
- Willingness to work in an Anglican ministry context
- Ability to preach and teach the Bible
- Strong interpersonal and relational skills
- Ability to make disciples and leading others to make disciples of Jesus
- Gifts or experience in building a new ministry from a small core group
- A team player

Duties and selection criteria:

The right person would need to be (or become) comfortable leading a wide range of services, ranging from Book of Common Prayer to contemporary liturgies, and engaging with a diverse array of pastoral duties.

The successful applicant(s) would need to be able to demonstrate:

- Strong commitment to personal growth, including in prayerfulness, character and ministry development;
- Theological orthodoxy, consistent with the creeds and the theology of the Anglican prayer books;
- The ability to communicate the gospel clearly, including by thoughtful and engaging preaching;
- Ability to adhere to the diocesan Code of Good Practice;
- Comfort with a variety of Anglican liturgies, particularly the Book of Common Prayer, and a willingness to work sympathetically with the Christ Church's liturgical style.

Licence
